City Council Tries 'Consent Calendar;' Has Brief Meeting

By Gunnar Norberg

Last night's regular monthly meeting of the Carmel City Council probably set a record—for brevity.

The meeting began at 8 o'clock—and it adjourned a mere hour and a quarter later.

There were some 30 items on the four-page agenda which faced the Council as it began its deliberations—but a new system for handling a substantial number of items under a single motion, disposed of nearly a dozen such items in a single action.

The items, largely routine, were lumped together under the single heading, "consent calendar," and disposed of as if they had been just one item.

This method can have the effect of conserving the Council's time, and thus permit more time in a given meeting for a detailed and prolonged discussion of matters which may be moot among Council members or of particular interest to significant numbers of voters or taxpayers in the community.

A potential peril bracketing a substantial number of agenda items in this way could be the inadvertant inclusion of some item which might deserve separate attention.

Thus, while time obviously can be saved by use of this "consent calendar" device, there is also at least a potential peril to full and free discussion of some item which might deserve more attention than the quick "consent calendar" treatment.

Next notable noteworthy observation about last night's Council meeting, was that there seemed to be hardly any disagreement about any of the many matters which came before the Council after the lumped items had been approved. This, of course, also helped to make the meeting as extraordinarily brief as it was.

At the very end of the agenda, a matter of possible concern to many voters and taxpayers was listed.

This was the request by Councilman Frank Falge for Council permission to be absent from the city from May 13 to July 25. Such permission must be secured if a councilman plans to be away 60 days or more, and if he does not wish to lose his position as a councilman.

The required permission was given, and playful reference was made to the fact that councilmen serve without pay.

Nevertheless the period of Councilman Falge's coming absence is the period during which most, if not all, budget-making sessions of the Council will be held. It is, therefore, the time when the Council's tax decisions are likely to be made.

Councilman Falge, a retired naval officer, plans to attend the 45th reunion of the Annapolis class with which he was graduated, and then to do some traveling. Few could quarrel with these plans, but some might regret his absence at coming city buget-and-tax sessions.

The merest shadow of disagreement appeared when one of the later items on the Council agenda came up for discussion. This was a resolution intended to establish the framework of rules within which the newly formed Traffic-Parking Committee would function.

Councilman Herb Blanks felt action on this resolution would be premature, and that the resolution before the Council should not have been drawn up. After further discussion a motion by Councilman Eben Whittlesey to drop the resolution from the agenda, and to refer its text to the Traffic-Parking Committee for its consideration, was approved.

A new ordinance to control residential construction exceeding 24 feet in height, was given second reading, and adopted.

The matter of a possible new land-fill site in which to dump street sweepings and usual forest wastes received brief attention once more, since the city property at 2nd and Camino Del Monte has reached its practical capacity.

Temporary rental of a land-fill site, as well as possible purchase of such a site, is to be considered by the Council.

Two specific beach matters came before the Council last night.

One resulted in the direction from the Council to Mayor Barney Laiolo to send a letter of commendation to 16-year-old Tony Lifton, Menlo Park high school student, who devoted much of his Easter vacation time to "cleaning up" the Carmel beach.

"What a boy!" said Councilman Ken Brown, expressing the view of the Council generally, though reference was also made to the fact that local groups, such as the Boy Scouts, have sometimes taken quite a hand in beach clean-up.

The second beach item concerned the question of putting new drinking fountains at Scenic and 11th, and Scenic and 13th. The probable cost of installation was given as $390 and the Council decided to have the fountains placed at the locations proposed.

SOARING BEAUTY — In Chekhov's powerful drama, "The Seagull," the bird is a piece of symbolism indicative of a ruined actress. This seagull, captured among the rugged rocks of the beach, the quiet waves and the green hills is symbolic only of the beauty that is Carmel.

EDITORIAL

California A.B. 272 is ostensibly an innocuous bill jammed through the legislature in the closing minutes of the 1967 session, giving state lawmakers less than an hour to read the bill before it came up for vote.

But in that ostensibly innocuous little bill are just nine printed lines that could add an insuperable burden to taxpayers who are already taxed to near the breaking point.

The nine-line clause gives school district governing boards ". . . full authority to fix tax rates which they deem necessary to support the educational programs of the district, without a vote by the people on any proposed local school tax increases, effective July 1, 1971."

The present law establishes maximum tax rates which school boards may set without going to the people for approval.

Virtually every school district in the state has reached its maximum, and therefore must seek a vote of the people before levying each new school tax "override" increase.

More and more local school tax overrides have been defeated at the polls, and school bond issues are piling up an impressive array of abject failures, indicating that California voters are completely unhappy with the excessively high cost of public education and with what they are getting for their money.

To free local school boards from the restraint of voter approval for tax increases could well spell complete financial disaster for taxpayers as well as the school districts setting the increases.

If the provisions of AB 272 go into effect in 1971, we have every reason to believe that Californians will experience an immediate and enormous increase in local property taxes which could drive thousands of people out of their homes and hun-

Candidates For School Board State Their Views on Education

A lively question and answer period followed five minute talks by candidates for Carmel School Board at Tularcitos School Monday evening.

Rev. James Brock, Carmel School Board incumbent, spoke of the need for relevance, flexibility, the recognition of individual differences, that all children are not college bound, and for better communication.

Andrea Gill said that the aim of education should be to bring forth the best in each child, to civilize and humanize.

James Miller spoke of the need for planning, good business practices, evaluation of new methods of teaching, more emphasis on vocational training for the 25% who do not go to college and a master plan for expansion.

Mrs. Ruth Morrice said that it took insight to see what any one child needs. We must have quality teachers, she said, and it is vital to expose children to people with real learning. The board should have someone who understands the feminine point of view, housewives' problems, with more consideration of the family unit.

Barbara Sanford spoke of improvements in individualized pupil progress, but said more consistency was needed between schools. Better communication between parent and school on the report card was a need, she said, as well as vocational and homemaking training.

Carvell Baldwin of Carmel from the audience asked what members thought of the plan for keeping schools open year around.

Brock answered that there were advantages and disadvantages.

Male teachers would welcome a full year job and there would be better utilization of buildings, but the schools would cost more to run and people would be reluctant to give up summer vacations.

Mrs. Sanford, a member of the citizen's committee to study the year round school, said that it costs more in operation if not in buildings.

Mrs. Gill said that everyone needs a vacation.

To this Miller answered that no plan had been proposed which would eliminate vacations, but that some would take vacations in fall and some in the spring.

Under the trimester or four quarter system, only 2/3 or ¾ of the students would be in school at any one time.

With the better utilization of facilities, this may be the only practical solution to avoid building new schools.

Many tourist and employment problems stem from everyone's having the same summer vacation.

The year round school would allow more flexibility of program, he said. College bound students with a tight program would have more time for electives which could be given on a pass-fail basis.

Mrs. Morrice said that usually in the summer Carmel schools offer innovative courses and recreation courses such as pottery for people in the golden age. All children need summertime vacations. We shouldn't disturb peer groups by staggering vacations.

MPC Transfer Grades Equal or Better Than Four Year College Students'

"Monterey Peninsula College is a community college we can be proud of," said Ralph Atkinson, Coast Route chemical engineer, at the Monday evening school board candidates meeting at Tularcitos school.

"Our transfer students acquit themselves well when they transfer to the universities and four year colleges. It is the only way we have to measure our success as a school.

"This is due perhaps to the faculty which specializes in teaching rather than research.

"Our new building program is in process to take care of massive increase in enrollment. Perhaps some of you have attended some of the community events in the fine new Lecture-Forum building or the new gym-auditorium.

"We have problems too, and student unrest, but we are doing the best we can to solve them."

Present at the meeting was Maj. Sherman W. Smith of Seaside who is also running unopposed for the MPC trusteeships.

Our Schools

Innovative Education Center Trico

Application to re-establish a regional center for innovative education in Monterey, Santa Cruz and San Benito counties has been approved by the State Innovative Advisory Council.

TRICO (Three Counties) replaces EDINN which was the subject of so much controversy on the part of the Monterey County Board of Education last year. Small districts complained that they were being neglected by the Monterey County School District because its Superintendent, Ed. Coffin, who had applied for the federally funded project, was spending too much time running it.

Mr. Coffin was also accused of irregularities in his personal expense account, although he received no salary for his work with EDINN, but he was later exonerated of these charges.

TRICO chairman, Dr. Lars Barstad, Hollister School district superintendent, has announced search for an executive director and two program developers. Applications are being taken at PO Box 1067, Hollister through May 9. The TRICO board hopes to make appointments by June 9.

Col. Lester Burbidge of the Santa Cruz Office of Education will accept nominations for a 15-member Supplementary Center Advisory Commission for TRICO.

There must be a representative for parochial schools, private schools, higher education, teachers, school board, PTA council, community action organization, minority group, someone related to community culture, someone engaged in fine arts or performing arts, medical or legal profession, someone from industry or agriculture, and someone representing labor.

The teachers and board member must be from districts not on the TRICO board. Questions will be handled by Burbidge at 701 Ocean St., Santa Cruz (Rm. 200).

Improved vocational education, programs for Mexican-Americans, and individual tutorial programs are among needed priorities, it was the consensus at the last meeting at the Castroville Professional Center where TRICO has leased quarters.

County Race for Education Board

"It's time for the County Board of Education to provide leadership to help local boards solve problems, and find answers," according to Richard Bragg, Peninsula-area candidate for Monterey County Board of Education at the Apr. 15 election.

Bragg told the audience at Tularcitos School Monday that industry of the County is concerned at the number of high-school trained applicants for employment who do not read well, do not write legibly, and fail simple 8th grade arithmetic employment tests.

In addition, he said, many applicants lack basic understanding of our system, and often seem to have no incentive.

"Some of the fault lies at home, perhaps. And some in government philosophy. Some of the fault lies at the doorstep of our educational institutions," Bragg said.

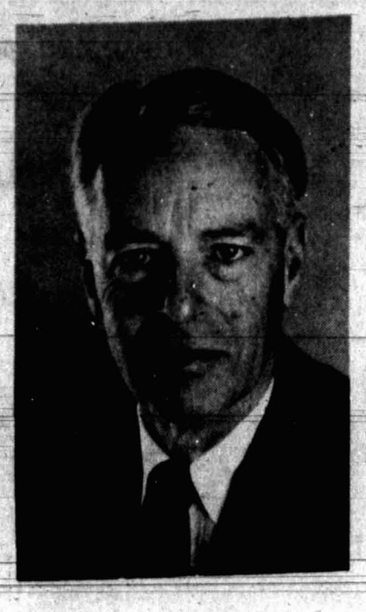
Bragg believes the County board of education should take the lead in innovative techniques, perhaps even developing an occupational-vocational high school, while at the same time showing the way toward holding the line on taxes.

Bragg is secretary-manager of MCID (Monterey County Industrial Development, Inc.) and lives with his wife, Virginia, and 10-year old Jess in Carmel Point. He was educated in Michigan and Indiana, and is a veteran of World War II and the Korean Conflict.

Bragg is running against John Shepard, Pebble Beach attorney since 1947 with offices in Monterey. Shepard, who led the county school board's criticism of Monterey County Schools Supt. Ed. Coffin last year, will be seeking his second two-year term.

"The County Board of Education is a service organization, and does not plan curriculum, said Shepard. If you are concerned about consistency between schools, think of trying to coordinate 29 districts. We should do away with small districts.

"The County has a million dollar film laboratory which loans equipment. Until recently the county offices never met with the superintendants. Schools should stimulate curiosity," he said.



Ralph B. Atkinson writes:

I shall be a candidate for re-election to the Board of Trustees of Monterey Peninsula College.

These are difficult and changing times for our country and for our colleges. I do not pretend to have all the answers to our problems, but I feel that it is urgent to give them our best attention.

The citizens and taxpayers of the district have given our local college fine support, both financial and moral, and as a result it is now in the best condition ever. The quality of the college's programs and the performance of its graduates are recognized throughout the state, which I believe are the results to which the taxpayers are entitled from their generous support.

I have had many years of experience in business and in scientific work, and I have been able to draw on these in my four years of service on the MPC board. I have tried to keep a sharp eye on the budget, while at the same time encouraging the college to explore new undertakings in its efforts to meet changing needs.

If the voters of the district want to make use of my experience on the Board, I shall be glad to serve them again.

County Spelling Bee

The county's top eighth grade spellers will engage in an old fashion spelling bee Apr. 18, County Schools Superintendent Ed Coffin announced today.

The Apr. 18 competition, slated for 2:30 p.m. at the County Office of Education, will mark the second phase in eliminations leading to the state-wide spelling contest.

School districts are currently conducting spell-offs to determine the district's representative to the Apr. 18 county-wide spelling bee to which the public is invited.

One student from each district will be entered in the county-wide competition. The winner of that event will go to the state-wide bee in Sacramento on Apr. 25.

Following letter was to have run last week instead of ballot insert.

James I. Miller writes:

It is my desire in seeking election to the Governing Board of Carmel Unified Schools that our district provide challenging educational programs for all of our youth. These programs should be planned to educate and to prepare our students for life, with equal concern for our non-college bound students as well as our college preparatory students.

As a businessman, I am aware that only through efficient economical management of our schools can we achieve the highest level of excellence in education within our tax resources. I feel that it is important that our School Board include members from varied backgrounds, and that there be represented a member with business management experience. With an education in business administration and eleven years of management experience I am well qualified to fill the vacancy on the Government Board.

MPC Spring Choral Concert Sunday

Monterey Peninsula College's 19th annual spring choral concert will be presented, free to the public, Sunday, Apr. 13, 8:30 p.m. at All Saints' Episcopal Church Carmel.

Dr. Harvey Marshall, MPC music department chairman, will conduct two student groups, the MPC Chorus and The College Singers, in a varied program.

Highlight of the evening will be the performance by the chorus of Franz Joseph Haydn's "Lord Nelson Mass," a work which has probably never been presented before on the Peninsula, according to Dr. Marshall.

Featured as soloists will be two students — Patrick Duval, tenor, and Eleanor Johnson, mezzo soprano — and two guest soloists — Norma Jean Hodges, soprano, and Robert Armstead, bass-baritone. The latter are distinguished vocalists who have appeared in many local musical events, including the Bach Festival.

The College Singers, smaller group of the two, will sing two Bach chorales and three spirituals.

Organ accompanist will be Camille Olaeta.

HARPIST JOEL ANDREWS — well-known in Carmel, will present his Harp Ensemble which consists of himself and four talented young women, at Pacific Grove Jr. High Auditorium, Friday, Apr. 11 at 8:15 p.m.

Harp Ensemble In Concert Friday

As the last concert in the current season, the Monterey Peninsula Concert Association will present the Joel Andrews Harp Ensemble on Friday evening, Apr. 11, at 8:15 p.m., in the Pacific Grove Junior High School Auditorium.

Joel Andrews teaches at the San Francisco Conservatory of Music, was four years solo harpist with the Oakland Symphony, and is now with the San Francisco Ballet and Opera. A prize student of the great Carlos Salzedo and Alice Chalifoux, Mr. Andrews holds three degrees, and has been praised as a "master harpist" and for his "superb technique and expressive playing." At the University of Texas he founded the First Annual Harp Festival, and organized a national Harp Festival in 1960, drawing 50 harpists. He has concertized widely, and has done extensive composing and arranging for the harp.

Four young women join Joel Andrews in the quintet performance, Melanie Rogers, Terry Grassi, Rebecca Jewell and Alyssa Hess.

Admission to the concert is limited to members of the Association, and to members of similar associations on a space available basis.

A limited number of memberships in the Monterey Peninsula Concert Association are available for the 1969-1970 concert season. For memberships information call 375-3544.

Carmel Composers Heard At MPC

Compositions by William Purdy who teaches music at Middle School, Mrs. Hascal Vaughn Stewart, Elayne Lavrans (Mrs. Roy Chanslor), and Gail Harris (Mrs. Don R. Harris), all of Carmel, will be among Peninsula composers heard Saturday, Apr. 12 at 8:30 p.m. at Monterey Peninsula College Music Hall.

LEADING MEZZO — Rosalind Elias, of the Metropolitan Opera, sings for Carmel Music Society at Sunset Auditorium Thursday evening, Apr. 17 at 8:30 p.m.

Leading Mezzo Soprano of The Met To Sing Here Apr. 17 At Sunset

The Carmel Music Society will present Rosalind Elias, leading mezzo soprano of the Metropolitan Opera, at Sunset Auditorium on Thursday, Apr. 17 at 8:30 p.m.

The young American singer started on the road to fame via the Metropolitan Auditions of the Air in 1955, when she was offered a contract through her show of extraordinary talent. She sang with the Met for three seasons, then emerging from minor roles to sing the pivotal role of Erika in the new American opera "Vanessa" by Barber and Menotti. Since then she has had major roles here and abroad.

A native of Lowell, Massachusetts, Miss Elias studied at the New England Conservatory. She made her first appearance with the New England Opera Company which led to three summers as a scholarship student at Tanglewood. She later studied in Italy.

Young and beautiful, Rosalinda Elias has reached early in life a leading role in American opera. Her career refutes the charge, so often made, that there are no operatic stages in this country from which a young singer can gain experience and seasoning.

She will sing a group of American songs, another of French shepherd songs by Canteloube, a group of Spanish songs by deFalla and Obradors, as well as two arias from Mozart's "Marriage of Figaro."

An ad in the Pine Cone has a 7-times-better chance to be read than an ad in a daily newspaper.

Chamber Music Society Picks Winners

Chamber Music Society of the Monterey Peninsula announces the results of the two Auditions for young gifted musicians held recently at the Monterey Peninsula College.

Judges Mrs. Walter Alfred deMartini, Mrs. Ella Molas and William van Den Burg stated that all the young people entered in the auditions possessed such individual ability it was difficult to select a first place winner.

In the Piano Division, Miss Ruth Mirikitani, 16, was given the Music Scholarship award. Miss Mirikitani is a resident of Marina and a student of Mr. Wade Parks. Honorable Mentions in this division were given to Miss Rosanne Conway, Brian R. Iwai, Claude Posella and Miss Nancy Yuen.

The String Division Award was granted 16-year-old Andrew deLoris Erlich of Pebble Beach, a student of Mr. Michael Rosenker.

An opportunity to appear in concert for the Monterey Peninsula Chamber Music Society later in this year will be given the winners of first place in the piano and string divisions.

Youth Orchestra To Play At MPC

The Monterey County Symphony Youth Concert is scheduled to play in the new Gym Auditorium at Monterey Peninsula College on Sunday, Apr. 13 at 2:30 p.m.

They have been rehearsing at Seaside High School.

A county-wide bus tour by the Youth Orchestra has been planned for May 1 and 2.

John Durein, Nancy Wheeler

John Durein Engaged to Marry

Mr. and Mrs. Ted Durein of Hatton Fields Mesa flew down to South Pasadena on Easter Sunday to attend the engagement announcement party given for their son John and Nancy Wheeler by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry J. Wheeler. They were accompanied by their daughter Donna whom they picked up in San Francisco.

The wedding has been planned for Saturday, July 12, at the Congregational Church there.

Nancy teaches in Sunnyvale and directs the fourth and fifth grade choir at her school. She was active in musical organizations and a member of Delta Kappa Psi at the University of Redlands where she was graduated. Her junior year was spent in Austria in the school's European program.

A 1960 Carmel High School graduate, John earned a degree in mechanical engineering at UC Berkeley where he was a member of Del Rey fraternity, also his father's. He is studying at San Jose State for his teaching credential.

He completed his naval duty in 1967 aboard the destroyer USS Ault and recently received the citation for meritorious service for operations in Vietnam.

From Hawaii to Princeton

John and Tory Raggett, who were married recently, are still adjusting to freezing cold weather and snow after a honeymoon in Hawaii.

Sidney Frohman, Virginia Frank Wed

The marriage of Sidney Frohman, head of Frohman productions and Virginia Frank who has been active in little theater work, took place Tuesday at 3:30 p.m. at the Little Church of the West in Las Vegas.

The bride was dressed in pale yellow chiffon with a matching brimmed hat of yellow straw. She wore a white orchid.

Mrs. Frohman has a son, John Frank, who will live with them at their home in Carmel Valley Golf and Country Club.

She has been active in the Community Hospital Auxiliary, MPVS, Tri-delta alumnae, and the Monterey Peninsula Council on Alcoholism in which Mr. Frohman has been active also.

Mr. Frohman is on the board of Community Theater. He produced and directed "First Lady" in which the new Mrs. Frohman appeared.

Mr. Frohman's mother, Mrs. Sidney Frohman, lives in Sanduskey, Ohio and he has a sister, Mrs. John Krider, in Ft. Lauderdale, Florida.

Mr. and Mrs. Willoughby Nason

Willoughby Leland Mason Wed

Stanford Memorial Church was the setting for the recent marriage of Miss Betsy Moore Kay of Palo Alto and Willoughby Leland Nason of Pebble Beach who is graduating soon from the university.

The late afternoon ceremony was performed by Chaplain Wilson of Robert Louis Stevenson School which Willoughby attended during prep school years.

The bride's attendants, dressed in shirtwaists of chocolate brown chiffon with long full skirts of cafe au lait, included Miss Joy Powers, her maid of honor, and Mrs. William (Gay Powers) Bull Pringle, twin daughters of the A. Gallatin Powers of Monterey. They carried yellow daisies with matching coronets of daisies in their hair.

Father of the groom, Charles Hal Wyman Nason, was chosen to act as best man. Ushers included his two brothers, Peter Nason of Warrentown, Penn., and Frank Nason of Oxnard, Calif., Malcolm Hook of Pebble Beach, and Richard Hormel of London, England.

After a honeymoon in Guatemala, the couple will live in Menlo Park until he finishes school, after which they will live in Pebble Beach.

Betsy is the daughter of Mrs. Jerry Skerry Kay and the late L. Douglas Kay Jr. She attended Los Altos schools and Foothill College.

Planning for the Los Altos Hunt Race Meet April 12 at the Bird Rock Steeplechase Course, Pebble Beach, are to Mrs. John Love and Mrs. Richard Collins, both of Pebble Beach, co-chairman for the Alfresco Luncheon at the steeplechase, which will benefit the U.S. Equestrian Team.

Theater Party To Benefit Braillers

Delta Gamma Alumnae of the Peninsula will hold a dinner-theater party on Sunday evening, Apr. 13 at the Studio Theater. "Everybody Loves Opal," the hit play, will begin at 7:30 p.m. following dinner which will be served at 6 p.m.

Proceeds from the party which is open to members, husbands, and guests, will be donated to the Monterey County Braile Transcribers Inc. They are a dedicated group of volunteers who transcribe books into Braille for visually handicapped children in our schools. Assistance to the blind is the national project of Delta Gamma.

Only 20 tickets remain unsold for the performance. For reservations call Mrs. William Ballard at 624-8134 or Mrs. Oscar Maddaus at 624-9586. Others serving on the committee are Mesdames Jack Miller, Douglas Leach, Paul Opperman, Frank Hebert and William Griffith.

New Generation

Births of five babies were recently born at Community Hospital: Scott Richard to Mr. and Mrs. Richard Murray on Mar. 13; Richard Kemp Jr. to Mr. and Mrs. Richard Whitesides on Mar. 25; Joseph Patrick to Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Narvaez on Mar. 26, Gregory Philip to Mr. and Mrs. Michael Fleischer and one little girl, Kelley Lynn to Mr. and Mrs. Larry Williams on, both on Mar. 27.

Michael Cole Marries Elizabeth Hoyt

Carmel Valley Community Chapel was the background for the recent marriage of Michael Paul Cole of Carmel and Elizabeth Hoyt Barker of Pacific Grove. The Rev. Don Johnson officiated at the 2:30 p.m. ceremony.

Michael is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ewell Cole of Rio Road, Carmel. Elizabeth is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert C. Hoyt of Dana Point, California.

Elizabeth, in white lace over yellow, with flowers in her hair, carried a basket of yellow marguerite daisies and orchids.

She was attended by Marilyn Cole who wore a dress of blue raw silk and carried blue and white carnations.

Best man was David Harber of Fresno and ushers were Michael's brother Buzz Cole and Keith May of Oliver Rd., Carmel.

Following their wedding trip to southern California they are now at home in Pacific Grove. Mike is employed at M and S Building Supply, Monterey. Betty works at The Sandpiper Beauty Salon in Carmel.

Bird a Month Cancelled

The Audubon Society Bird a Month meeting scheduled for Apr. 16 has been called off because of the conflict in dates with the wildflower show at the Pacific Grove Museum of Natural History.

An ad in the Pine Cone has a 7-times-better chance to be read than an ad in a daily newspaper.

OBITUARY

Mrs. Gerrtude Furrer, 80, Carmel resident at Atherton and Trevis Way, died recently. She is survived by her daughter, Mrs. Jean K. Becker and three grandchildren, Randall, Phyllis and Nancy, all of Carmel. Friends wishing to make contributions in her memory may do so to Central Mission Trails Heart Assn., Box 300, Carmel.

Stanford Students on World Affairs

Prof. Philip Rhinelander of the philosophy department at Stanford will moderate a panel of Stanford students on the causes of unrest and protest in their countries at the next meeting of the World Affairs Council.

It will be held at the Monterey Institute of Foreign Studies auditorium at 442 Van Buren St., Monterey, Friday, Apr. 18 at 8 p.m.

France, West Germany, Japan, Pakistan, Poland and the U.S. will be represented on the panel.

An audience which included former Ambassador Lewis Clerk, ex-Ambassador to Mexico, Fulton Freeman and James Henderson, former consul-general, listened to two young U.S. foreign service officers, Lannon Walker and Charles W. Bray, speak at the recent meeting held at La Playa Hotel.

Their talks concerned foreign service morale resulting from entry other than by written examination, and need for reforms.

It was their belief that there should be no foreign service college as such, but that service officers should be drawn from various schools all over the country.

New Salvation Army Center Planned

A gift of $125,000 from an anonymous donor in Pacific Grove has kicked off the Salvation Army fund drive for a Corps Community Complex to be built at the corner of Hoffman and Beldon Sts., in Monterey.

The campaign, which will raise the remaining $300,000 needed to build the center, will be conducted for the next three years. The pay period will extend over four tax years, and every donor is assured the full tax deduction allowed by law.

The complex was designed by Sebastian Bordonaro of Carmel, and he has used a Mediterranean motif in the architecture.

Bordonaro's design features semi-enclosed courtyards — an entrance court, youth court, terrace, parking for 17 cars, and an outdoor basketball-volleyball court which is easily converted to additional parking.

The buildings include a multipurpose, stage-kitchen building which will seat 150 at tables, a corps office structure, nursery, community room and an auditorium seating 125 people.

Carmel City Councilman and Police Commissioner Ken Brown, owner of the Village Inn, is a member of the advisory board and is heading the fund drive for the project.

Samuel F. B. Morse is honorary chairman of advisory board of citizens who care about youth and handicapped people and are anxious to see them have a place of their own.

Gifts to the Community Complex may be in the form of stock, real estate, insurance, cash or any convertible commodity.

For those who wish to perpetuate the memory of a loved one in terms of humanitarian services, the Corps Community Center provides excellent opportunities.

When construction is completed, a suitably inscribed bronze tablet will be dedicated for each designated gift.

For further information, address the Salvation Army, 543 Lighthouse Ave., Monterey, 93940.

UNIQUE TRAVEL — Cruising Norway's spectacular Fjords is only one of the delightful ways you can see Scandinavia. A 22-day "transportation smorgasbord" tour to Finland, Sweden, Norway and Denmark takes you all around these exciting countries via air, rail, coach and ship.

Transportation Smorgasbord

If you've always wanted to tour all of Scandinavia, but the prospect of two or three weeks of day-after-day motorcoach travel has made you hesitate, you'll be interested in a new escorted group tour which offers a "smorgasbord" which offers a "smorgasbord" variety of air, rail, ship, and coach transportation around Finland, Sweden, Norway and Denmark.

Four Winds Travel, operators of this 22-day tour, starts off with a jet flight to Helsinki, via Scandinavian Air Lines.

After spending a couple of days in Helsinki, enjoying the sights in this "White City of the North," you step into your deluxe motorcoach for a half-day's drive through the countryside to Hameenlinna, a beautiful resort. Next morning, you board a cruise ship, bound for Tampere, Finland's largest city. A couple of days later, you're traveling through awesome mountains from Oslo to Flam via a railway that's a miracle of engineering skill.

And so it goes throughout the trip — your travels by air, coach, rail and ship are so expertly blended and spaced out you never have a chance to become restless or bored.

One highlight of the trip is a two-day cruise of spectacular Sognefjord, the largest of Norway's fjords. You break your journey with an overnight stop at Balestrand, Sognefjord's most popular resort and, next morning, you're on your way again!

Other special features of this fully escorted tour are luncheon and dinner parties at Scandinavia's most famous restaurants. Two of these are Blom's in Oslo, much favored by local artisst, and Divan 2, in the heart of Copenhagen's Tivoli Gardens, the world's most beautiful amusement park. All your meals are included in this unusually comprehensive tour, as are escort service, all transfers, baggage handling and tips.

For further details on this fascinating tour, see page 13.

UCB Opens New Building At Carmel Rancho

An all - day fun festival with free gifts and refreshments for everyone plus ice cream cones and balloons for the children will mark the opening Monday, Apr. 14, of United California Bank's new Carmel Rancho office, located in the Carmel Rancho Shopping Center on Carmel Valley Road, Carmel.

An added attraction will be a U.S. currency exhibit consisting of genuine gold certificate and Federal Reserve notes ranging from $1 to $100,000.

The business of the UCB Carmel Rancho office has outgrown its present building, and this situation will be remedied as the bank moves into its spacious new quarters.

Hosting a 9:30 a.m. symbolic key and door opening ceremony will be J. Scott Rambach, manager of the office. Participants will include civic dignitaries and United California Bank executive officers.

Among those scheduled to assist at the formal opening activities are: Mrs. Mary Barter, president of the Carmel Business Association; Willard Branson, chairman, board of supervisors, Monterey County; Robert Kvenild, president, Carmel Valley Chamber Commerce; and Bernard F. Laiolo, mayor of Carmel.

Coming from United California Bank are: K. S. Graham, vice president, regional coordination — Monterey; C. H. Lipson, vice president, California division, San Francisco headquarters; W. A. Maurer, senior vice president, Los Angeles Main office; and M. F. Parker, vice president, branch administration, San Francisco headquarters.

Immediately following the formal ceremony, the bank will welcome the public to an all-day open house. In addition to souvenir gifts for everyone, hourly drawings beginning at 12:00 a.m. will be held for free Sony portable televisions. United California Bank medallions will be given to those who open new accounts.

Tickets for the drawings have been mailed to residents of the area surrounding the office and additional tickets may be obtained on the opening day at the bank where they may be deposited in the drawing receptacle between 10 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. Winners need not be present to win and will be notified by telephone of their good luck.

The new bank building represents an investment by the bank and landlord of $335,000, including construction costs of approximately $200,000 plus $135,000 for furniture, fixtures, and vault equipment. The one-story building contains 5300 square feet of banking area and 1900 square feet for future expansion which temporarily will be9 used as rental space.

The bank offers complete banking services, a night depository for merchants and businessmen, a drive-up teller window, safe deposit facilities, and a self-operating copier for public use. Parking is in common with other shopping center tenants.

Architect for the building was George K. Raad & Associates and general contractor was Dolphin Construction Co.

The Carmel Rancho office of United California Bank is one of a statewide chain of 218 branch offices. As of March 31, United California Bank had deposits of $3.7 billion, loans of more than $2.6 billion, and capital funds of $305 million. Total resources are $4.6 billion.

Bankwarming.

You are most cordially invited to help us celebrate the opening of our new office on Carmel Valley Road.
From 10 to 5 (our normal banking hours),
Monday, April 14.

J. Scott Rambach,
Manager

We love our location so much, we just couldn't move far away. So we're just opposite our old office—you can't miss us.

Our new office is a delight! You'll enjoy the roominess and increased facilities. All to save you time and better serve your many banking needs. Modern, up-to-date. And yet, we have moved over some of our period pieces—including the rolltop desk. See how well they look in their new surroundings!

Unlike most housewarmings, at a bankwarming you're not asked to bring a gift. Instead we have some for you. Drawings for Sony Portable TVs, every hour on the hour from 12 to 5. Free ice cream cones for the children. Refreshments for all.

You'll also enjoy an interesting exhibit. Through the courtesy of the U.S. Secret Service, we will have on display an exhibit of old U.S. Gold Certificates and Federal Reserve Notes. Fascinating.

Please remember the date. Monday, April 14. We sincerely hope to greet you at our new office.

LA CIUDAD MEXICO — This is Mexico City's Zocalo, illuminated at night as it is once a week. The Zocalo and surrounding buildings reflect from one of the lakes with which Mexico City abounds. The scene is from "I Love Mexico," the final film in the current Explorerama series presented by the San Francisco Explorers Club. This Thayer Soule production will be seen Friday evening at Sunset Center beginning at 8:15.

ANCIENT CRAFT — A fisherman on Mexico's Lake Patzcuaro uses butterfly nets, one of the most ancient of fishing methods, from a dugout hewn from a single log, one of the most ancient of sailing vessels. The scene is from Thayer Soule's "I Love Mexico," coming to Sunset tomorrow evening.

Final Film in Explorerama Series, 'I Love Mexico' Set for Sunset

Thayer Soule, one of America's foremost travel-adventure film producers, will appear in person at 8:15 p.m., Friday, Apr. 11, at Carmel Sunset Auditorium to narrate his new two-hour color travel and adventure film "I Love Mexico."

The show is the final performance in the current Explorama Series which is sponsored by The Explorers Club of San Francisco.

Soule is a graduate of Harvard University where he had special courses in exploration, geology and history. He was production assistance to Burton Holmes for twenty years. During WW II he landed at Guadalcanal as officer in charge of the Marine's First Field photographic unit and later headed another unit at Iwo Jima where he won the Bronze Star.

At war's end he was in charge of all Marine Corps photography in the Pacific area.

The film he will present in Carmel highlights the areas of Mexico that he has come to love during his many visits there through the years. The program features Mexico City, Taxco, Acapulco, Guadalajara and ancient Mayan and Toltec ruins.

Reserved seats are now available at Central Box Office in Carmel and tickets will also be available at the Auditorium after 7:15 p.m. the night of the show.

Theatre Guide

Everybody Loves Opal — Oh so funny comedy about three of the most inept con artists ever portrayed, who unsuccessfully try to bilk a kindly lady junk dealer out of her shoes, then form equally unsuccessful plots to knock her off for her insurance. One of the wackiest plays ever produced. Now at the Studio Theater-Restaurant weekends. Better call 624-1661 for reservations.

Ten Little Indians — Alternating comedy and chilling suspense make this Circle Theater production great entertainment. Direction is well paced, acting more than adequate, and it all adds up to another hit from the Community Players. Reservations recommended by calling 624-2669.

Movie Review

100 Rifles — Story of the Yaku Indian uprising in Mexico in 1912. Jim Brown and Raquel Welch star in this made-in-Spain Western.

The Split — Splendid cast in a trivial story about double crossing crooks. Jim Brown, Diahann Carroll, Julie Harris and Ernest Borgnine make this top entertainment.

Dracula Has Risen From the Grave — Christopher Lee in the role he has parlayed to stardom — Dracula. Replete with bats, vampire type, and skulking through a church belfry.

Mayerling — Tragic story of the Crown Prince Rudolf of the Austria-Hungary Empire in the late 19th century. Omar Sharif, and Catherine Deneuve star.

Three In the Attic — Picture about an American college made in England. Lots of sex as three girls gang up on a self-styled Romeo, much of his discomfiture.

The Killing of Sister George — Potentialities and pitfalls of trying to put sexual deviation on the screen. Comes off pretty well with Beryl Reid, Susannah York and Coral Browne.

Where Eagles Dare—Great suspense stuff during WWII rescue of U.S. general from a Gestapo headquarters castle. Fantastic goings on and lots of action.

The Lion In Winter — Peter O'Toole and Katherine Hepburn turn in outstanding performances in this drama of Henry II and his queen. Great dialogue and a great film.

Camelot — Richard Harris as Arthur and Vanessa Redgrave as Guenevere and Franco Nero as the superhero Lancelot. Lovely music, great drama and outstanding acting.

Romeo and Juliet — Franco Zeffirelli's production starring Leonard Whiting, 17, as Romeo and Olivia Hussey, 16, as Juliet. A sensitive and poetic picture shot in northern Italy where the tragedy actually occurred.

Gary Burton

Burton Jazz Set For MPC Tonight

"The blues jostle with Bartok; country and Western blurs into flamenco. Rock blares through misty impressionism. It adds up to strange jazz, and the strangest thing of all is that the Gary Burton Quartet makes it work brilliantly."

That's "the Burton sound," according to Time Magazine. The makers of that sound, the Gary Burton Quartet, will be on the Peninsula Thursday, Apr. 10, to appear in concert that evening at 8:30 in the Monterey Peninsula College gymnasium.

Highly successful twice at the Monterey Jazz Festival and twice at Newport, the group is famed for its unique blend of contemporary jazz and rock. The four - vibraharpist Burton, guitarist Larry Coryell, bassist Steve Swallow and drummer Bob Moses — have played concerts on both coasts and innumerable college dates in between.

Burton himself is considered one of the nation's most brilliant young jazz artists. He played with George Shearing and Stan Getz then on his own, forming his quartet in 1967.

Tickets to the Apr. 10 concert at MPC are available at Central Box Office, Carmel; Abinante's Music Store, Monterey; and at the college community services office in the administration building on campus. They will also be sold at the door.

PARTY PLANS . . .

by Phyllis Jervey

"Who Makes the Best Bouillabaisse?"

The three celebrated strongholds of bouillabaisse, that most famous of sea food soups, are Marseilles where it originated, New Orleans and now Carmel!

Thackeray, after singing praises of bouillabaisse as prepared for him in Paris, later changed his "appestat" (meaning mind over matter) and declared "In New Orleans their bouilla-baisse is the like of which was never enjoyed in Marseilles or Paris!"

We amend this to say that American Clyde Herr, co-owner with his French wife Genevieve, of La Marmite Restaurant in Carmel, has created the best sea food chowder with its saffron color and sailor-style taste, we will ever discover. And Clyde uses local Monterey Bay fish (excepting for sea food). We regret we were not the first to publish Clyde's own inspired version, as Sunset Magazine featured it and there is a framed copy of "The Great Sea Soup of Southern France" on the wall of La Marmite as one enters.

But let's now go back to how the bouilla-baisse first acquired its title. And some say: "What's in a name?" Actually everything!

In Marseilles two fishermen disputed about the best way to cook sea food soup with local catch. Both friends tried. One made a superior dish in the marmite over its wharf tripod. The other's was a failure according to many volunteer tasters.

The reason?

Because he had failed to heed the onlookers (and tasters) warning: "Quand ca commence a bouiller, BAISSE'." (When it starts to boil, lower the flame, stop or remove and let alone, then recommence, bring to a quick boil and stop!)

Now, we're speaking of an outdoor wharfside experience, or maybe a summer barbecue pit . . . but Carmel Clyde says always bring it to a quick boil, then a gentle simmer not for long.

That's the way he cooks it at La Marmite restaurant.

Nowhere is this fish soup quite the same even along the south coast of France. The following Carmel version has the added advantage of surprise since various types of fish, the firmer the better, are used. Rockfish, red snapper, ocean perch, salmon, mackerel, halibut are among the choices. But let's give you Clyde's way:

Clyde's Carmel Bouillabaisse

First a tomato saffron-scented base is made with 2 cans, each 1 lb. 12 oz. tomatoes; 1 can-full water; 1 t. each, salt and thyme; 2 small bay leaves; ½ t. white pepper. Bring this to a boil, then reduce heat to low and simmer, covered, for 20 minutes. Discard bay leaves and press mixture through a fine sieve and reserve broth. Clyde keeps a supply refrigerated for instant use at dinner time.

Now to the fish: 3 red snapper or salmon steaks (about 2 lbs. skinned and boned); 1 lb. rockfish fillets; 1½ lbs. large shrimp, 1½ doz. small hardshell clams; ½ lb. small scallops; 3 frozen lobster tails, thawed; ½ t. powdered saffron; cooked white rice. Serves 6-8.

To prepare fish, shell and devein shrimp, rinse clams and scallops in cold water; cut lobster in half lengthwise; cut fish into 1½ inch chunks.

Bring tomato broth to a quick boil in large deep steel pot (6 qt-size for 8 servings.) Stir in saffron, add shell-fish and fish. Reduce to gentle simmer, covered, for 15 minutes or until shrimp and lobster turn pink and fish is tender but firm. The clams are left in their shells, so be sure all sand is gone. Remove pot from heat and loosen meat from lobster shells, cut into 1½ inch pieces and reutrn to fish mixture. Serve in deep soup plates with hot rice in bottom, covered with evenly distributed seafood-fish and fragrant broth.

A crisp green salad with sauce vinaigrette, freshly baked crusty French bread with generous amounts of delicious sweet butter and a choice of fine imported French wines makes this an unsurpassable meal, any night but Sunday.

The part that most appealed to us is how the Herrs cook everything "on order." Their clientele wait only briefly. What wtih American efficiency, plus an instinct for subtle French seasoning, this attractive couple have achieved a melange of traditional French provincial (what we call regional) cuisine plus American innovations.

The Herrs amply provide their charming luncheon and dining place with fastidious food preparation. Clyde does all the cooking with dexterity and know-how.

Genevieve is his charming and gracious hostess. And they aim to keep it simple . . . simply delicious, we would say.

Never a tourist trap with too "haute cuisine" . . . too rich for the pocket book nor too rich for the digestion! And no leftovers used.

That is the secret, just the right amount prepared and cooked in an amazingly short time. But no steam table atmosphere!

Other specialties at luncheon are the roulade de celeri, (celery heart rolled in ham with cheese sauce); tomato provencale (broiled tomato filled with garlic-flavored best ground beef); cold roast beef (generous is the word!) all accompanied by lettuce and tomato salad. The tomatoes are beautifully peeled and cold . . . the dressing the best this far from France . . . a la vinaigrette.

True to its name there is a superb Petite Marmite of Chicken in Broth with freshest vegetables served at dinner. Carbonnade de Boeuf a la Flamande is a Flemish beef stew cooked in beer; or filet of beef broiled on skewers . . . plus that super tomato salad; prawns sauteed in garlic butter; coq au vin (chicken in red wine); and a choice of special desserts, plus cheeses and fruits.

To fully appreciate the grandeur of the French kitchen, one must understand the kitchen itself and the Frenchman's attitude. There are two types of cuisine — the haute of the master chefs, and the regional home-hearth cookery. The housewife in her own provincial kitchen is as fastidious in the planning and preparation of her family's meals as are the superior chefs' chez Maxim's. They will not settle for second best and that's the way Carmel's "Petite Marmite" rates with us. It's tops!

CORRECTION

Correction for Party Plans Apr. 3 ('69) issue. In the story about Dru Dunn's "Keeping Room" in Carmel Valley, for her West Indian "Fungi" recipe, the cayenne should be dispensed with and instead distributed with Fancy Foods green and red pepper rings! Sorry, Dru!

NEW ACQUISITION — Mrs. Betty Hoag, research director of the Carmel Museum of Art, stands before one of the museum's latest acquisitions, "Point Lobos From Carmel Beach" by William Keith. This and other similar oil paintings, as well as other art forms and media, are currently on display at the Carmel Museum of Art, on Dolores between Ocean and 6th. The museum open Tuesday through Saturday 10-4.

Historical Convention At Stockton

On Mar. 21-22, Mrs. Betty Hoag, research director of the Carmel Museum of Art, and Mrs. Dorothy Ronald, curator of Monterey's Colton Hall, attended the 22nd annual California History Institute meeting held at the University of Pacific in Stockton.

In addition to business sessions, the conference contained numerous programs emphasizing the theme "1969 — A Year of Centennials."

Mr. Walter Frame, Sacramento attorney, spoke of the importance of California history; Father Arthur D. Spearman, S.J. of the University of Santa Clara, presented recently discovered information about founding of the San Francisco mission and Richard Harville talked about Jedediah Smith and the Redwood National Park.

Mr. Guy L. Dunscomb of Modesto, discussed early railroading in California and finally, Sacramento attorney Henry Taketa presented a slide-lecture telling of the first Japanese colony to be established in California, a short-lived tea and silk-raising community, Wakamatsu, near Sonora in 1869.

He told of his research about these early pioneers. Not only did he show pictures of the Waramatsu grave of Okai, a young Japanese girl, but also he showed a slide of a duplication of this grave which the Japanese government has constructed as a national shrine in its own country to honor the first Japanese-Californians.

During the luncheon, guests' toes were set tapping as the charming Mrs. Earl Purdy of Long Barn sang, to her own piano accompaniment, a representative sampling of songs popular in California from the time of its inception to the present day.

One afternoon was devoted to a conducted tour of Stockton's handsome Pioneer and Haggin Galleries, including the newly-formed California Room, and concluded with a tea given by that museum's Junior Women's group.

Mesdames Hoag and Ronald, who drove to the conference, report that wildflowers are beginning to blaze over the hills of Pacheco Pass and recommend the route to others for an inspiring drive.

Carmel Art Association Features Helen Barker One-Man Show

by Louise Cook

The Beardsley Room of the Carmel Art Association is enlivened this month by a one-man showing of paintings by Helen Barker. An accomplished artist, she sees and portrays beauty in a variety of subjects.

Mrs. Barker's harbor scenes have a fresh and salty air about them; her florals are stylized but warm; her marines show the sea in its various moods; and her still life is formal but pleasantly naturalistic. Any one of this artist's canvasses would be very easy to live with.

The Main Gallery presents a rather uneven show for April.

"Danae," a nude figure by Sam Harris floats on clouds filled with bursts of color. Edward Norton Ward's "Boatyard" expresses the crisp clarity of spring air air enveloping fishing boats in drydock for spruce-up and repair.

The haunting eyes and brooding face of "Idyll" by Walter Landaker have a magnetic attraction.

"Mercado," a Mexican market scene by William Timmins is accented by a bright orange sweep of awning. John La Pierre's distinctive work in collage has purples predominating in his conception of "Chinatown."

Howell Armor, sculptor, creates the face of moon-goddess "Hina Mahina" emerging from a dramatic piece of driftwood.

McLanathan In Dual Role At MPC

Dr. Richard McLanathan, an outstanding authority and critic of the fine arts, will lecture on "The American Tradition in the Arts" Friday, Apr. 11, 8 p.m. in Monterey Peninsula College lecture-forum 103.

There will be no admission charge, but interested persons must obtain tickets from the MPC Community Services Office in the college administration building.

He has appeared both on the educational television channels and the three major networks, where he is much in demand for "specials" on art. His articles appear in most of the important art publications, and he has contributed to The World Encyclopedia of Art and the Encyclopedia Britannica.

While on the Peninsula, Dr. McLanathan will also act as consultant to "Conference on the Arts" in the MPC lecture-forum Saturday, Apr. 12, 9:30 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Arts Workshop At MPC on Apr. 12

Discussions and workshops in many phases of the arts —music, theater, painting, dance, graphics, cinema, creative writing — will be featured in the day-long "Conference of the Arts" to be held in the Monterey Peninsula College lecture-forum Saturday, Apr. 12.

Sponsored jointly by MPC, the Arts Coordinating Council of Monterey County and the California Arts Commission, the conference will run from 9:30 a.m. to 5 p.m.

James Lyons, executive director of the California Arts Commission, will act as conference moderator. Dr. Richard McLanathan, the art critic and writer who will lecture at MPC Friday evening, Apr. 11, will act as consultant. Vantile Whitfield, director of the Performing Arts Society of Los Angeles, will be a special guest.

The program:

9:50-10 a.m.: Welcome by James Lyons.

10-11:15 a.m.: Discussion, "The Visual Arts." Participants: Romayne Wetmore of the New Monterey Neighborhood Center; Mrs. Lewis Fenton of the Lyceum; William Stone, Carmel High School art instructor; Pat Carey of the Carmel Graphics Center; and Chase Weaver, cinema producer.

11:25-12:30 p.m.: Discussion, "The Performing Arts." Participants: Marcia Gambrell Hovick, director, Children's Experimental Theater; Mrs. David Weakley, Youth Concerts chairman, Junior League; Dan Haerle, Instructor, MPC music department; and Mrs. Charslie Cook, MPC community development officer.

2-3:30 p.m.: (1) Discussion on objectives, policies and responsibilities of art galleries, museums and artist cooperatives. Participants: Maggie Arnold, Monterey Peninsula Museum of Art Association; Charles Thomas, Carmel Art Association; Robert Nelson, chairman, MPC creative arts division; Arthur Porter, Zantman Art Galleries; Irene Alexander, Herald art critic; and Robert E. Ross, Carmel Museum of Art. Lecture-Forum 103.

(2) Children's Theater Workshop, with Marcia Gambrell Hovick as consultant. This segment will feature rehearsal improvisations and fragments of plays acted by children from the third grade to high school. Lecture-Forum 102.

(3) Arts Council Workshop, with Mrs. Sue McDonald of the Carmel Arts Commission as consultant. Lecture-Forum 101.

2:30-5 p.m.: Workshop, MPC-sponsored Black Arts Workshop, Seaside Youth Center, with Vantile Whitfield as consultant. Workshop faculty: Joyce Redmond and Philip Collins, art; Trevor Laing, creative writing; Dale Diggs, drama; and Brenda K. Wang, dance.

3:40-4 p.m.: Interchange and adjournment, Lecture-Forum 103.

SIT STILL! ! ! — OK, OK, but I still think you ought to take me in profile. If you don't get my muzzle, people are liable to think I'm a cat. What a horror that would be! What? Oh, move my left paw a little forward? How's that? Can't you just imagine what my friends would say . . . What? My right paw a little to the left? How's that? . . . if I came out looking like one of those monstrous felines? I'd be disgraced . . . hold my head up? Like this? . . . for life. Should I look appealing? Sit up? Wag my tail? OK, OK, you're taking the picture, so take it already. I'll be glad if someone claims me at the SPCA shelter on the Salinas Monterey Highway.Photographiers, bah!

Annual Adobe Tour Theme 'Walk Through History,' On Apr. 26

The 1969 Monterey Adobe Tour, using the theme "A Walk Through History," has been scheduled for Saturday, Apr. 26, according to Maggie Downer, chairman of the annual event.

The Apr. 26 date roughly coincides with the opening of the California Bicentennial Celebration, commemorating the 200th anniversary of the occupation of California and the founding of Monterey and the Franciscan Mission by the Spanish in 1770.

Work on the Old World Plaza in front of the Custom House is scheduled to be completed about the time of the tour, and the dedication of the plaza should take place then.

Federal, State and local dignitaries, including Governor Reagan, Mayor Minnie Coyle and others, are scheduled to be present at the dedication.

Since the adobe tour is being linked with the State observance, something new has been incorporated into the walk through Monterey's historic buildings.

Eleven of the adobes and one brick structure have been chosen from the city's architectural heritage, and a number of live-action vignettes of early California and Monterey will take place at these chosen sites.

The twelve buildings include the Brick House on Decatur St., its next door neighbor, the Old Whaling Station; California's First Theater on Pacific; The House of the Blue Gate, also on Pacific; Casa Serrano, now the home of the Monterey History and Art Association.

Colton Hall, most elaborate and substantial of the Monterey buildings and now Monterey's city hall; Larkin House at Calle Principal and Jefferson; the House of the Four Winds, formerly the residence of Governor Alvarado of Mexico; Casa Amesti on Polk St., one of the finest examples of Monterey Colonial architecture; Casa Abrego, one of the oldest of the adobes, the Stevenson House on Houston St., and the Royal Presidio Chapel, probably the oldest building in Monterey.

Tea will be served from 2 to 5 p.m. at the Estrada Adobe on Tyler St., and an al fresco lunch will be served at 11:30 a.m. in the Memory Garden.

NUMBER ONE — This beautifully preserved brick house just off Oliver St., in Monterey, is not only the first brick house ever built in the city, but is the first stop on the "Walk Through History" adobe tour sponsored by the Monterey History and Art Association. The tour is scheduled for Saturday, Apr. 26, and will be the first event of the California Bicentennial Celebration.

LIVE AND IN COLOR — The theme of the 1969 adobe tour is "Live and in Color," as not only will the event feature the usual visit to historic Monterey adobes, but will portray live events from the city's early history, which leads to the tour's second theme, "A Walk Through History." Al Olinger portrays Thomas Oliver Larkin, first and only US consul to Mexicc, who served in Monterey from 1843 to 1846. Kate Branson is the daughter of Willard Branson, chairman of teh Monterey County Board of Supervisors.

Urban Forest Notes

There are 63 species of trees on Carmel's streets, but 4 of them make up 85 per cent of the total. These are pine, oak, acacia and cypress. No one of the other 59 species comprises over 3½% of the total.

* * *

It is curious to note that Monterey Pine means, in Spanish, "Forest King". This is not the reason it is called Monterey Pine, of course, as it was really named for the area where it seemed to be pretty much localized. The town, we are told, was named after a Count Monterey.

* * *

The "Spanish Moss" that hangs on Monterey Pine and Cypress is not a moss at all, but a lichen, Ramaline reticulata. This is not a parasite, but it may smother leaves and branches.

SOCIAL SECURITY AND YOU

By Raymond MacDonald

Q. My maid works one day a week at $3.50 per day. In addition to this I give her 50c for bus fare. Should this be reported for social security purposes?

A. Yes. Her pay is $52 ($4 per week times 13 weeks in quarter) a quarter and must be reported. When the bus fare is given in cash it is considered to be part of her regular wages.

Q. My mother has been bedridden for the past year in my home. About the only item for which I have received reimbursement from Medicare is her doctor bills. What else may I submit? We use a fantastic number of bed pads and the laundry is very big.

A. Bed pads and laundry fall into the category of personal comfort items and are not Medicare benefits. However, if your mother's doctor administers injections, orders lab tests and x-rays, or requests the rental of a hospital.. bed, wheel-chair, etc., these are reimburseable by 80%. Also, if her doctor authorizes it, your mother would also be eligible for part-time assistive services available through the Home Health Agency in your community. A visiting home nurse would be one such aid.

Q. I am retired but want a job working part time to help on my living expenses. How much can I earn and not lose any Social Security?

A. Starting in 1968, a Social Security beneficiary can work and earn up to $1,680.00 in a calendar year and still receive all benefits for every month of the year.

(Mail your questions to Social Security, c/o Carmel Pine Cone, Carmel, or phone Social Security office 373-3351).

Eagle Scouts Plan Knights of Dunamis

A meeting to organize a chapter of the Knights of Dunamis, national Eagle Scout honor society, will be held Thursday, Apr. 17 at 7:30 p.m. in the community room of the Monterey Savings and Loan on Tyler Street in Monterey.

To serve as advisor to the organization is Myron B. Haas, a Monterey attorney, former Eagle Scout and member of the council executive board.

All Eagle Scouts, young and old, are invited to attend the organization meeting. Earl Schmidt, member of the national board of the Knights of Dunamis will present the program for the evening, and will be assisted by Dr. Arthur Benoit, past council president and an Eagle Scout.

Plans are being hurried to organize a local chapter so Eagle Scouts from this area can take part in the national Knights of Dunamis conference to be held at Asilomar July 7.

SCIENTISTS — Forming working habits that will lead to early mastery of office procedures, two new members of the Litton Scientific Support Laboratories, meet at the water cooler. At left is Lee Hocker, of Carmel, and Col. Anders Wiklund (UST Ret), of Pebble Beach. Hocker and Anders are two of four new scientists recently hired by LSSL, which is under contract to the Combat Developments Command Experimentation Command at Ft. Ord. Wiklund will work in the project operations section as an operations analyst, while Hocker will serve as senior engineer in the LSSL engineering department.

THE CARMELIGHT CONSPIRACY

by Charles Strosnider

"The true artist will let his wife starve, his children go barefoot, his mother drudge for his living at seventy sooner than work at anything but his art."

There is a conspiracy afoot to wreack havoc within the homes — to estrange spouses — to throw infants on welfare. Bell, Book and Candle — Carmel shall burn.

The CarmeLight School of the Performing Arts is sowing the seeds of temptation from which can only grow a succubus to sap one's strength to resist.

"Perish the race and wither a thousand women if only the sacrifice of them enable him to act a better Hamlet, to paint a finer picture, to write a deeper poem, a greater play, a profounder philosophy."

Carmel has never tolerated actors and artists — she has clasped them to her breast — honoring them, humoring their whimsies, tolerating their mild madness. Feted for their successes and eccentricities and commiserated with in their adversities, the artist has owned Carmel since her birth. In fact, they were the midwife and parents at the genesis of Carmel — its raison d'etre.

John Hale, his wife Marya Stevens and Richard Moreno are the conspirators who have brought their school to Carmel to help satisfy that unquenchable thirst possessed by all to ACT.

John and Marya have credits on stage, screen, TV and even radio that just won't stop! Not only that, they know how to impart their talent so that you might be the one who "could do better yourself."

Can't you hear those calls of Bravo, Bravo?

John Hale and Marya Stevens divide their time between Carmel, Hollywood and New York to continue their professional careers.

But everyone of us is a bit of an exhibitionist, generally repressed, and actors are no exception. John, Marya and Richard must act, and what better way to be "on stage" between professional engagements than to teach untutored hopefuls.

You want to learn, don't you? You want to jerk those tears out of the audience? You want that enrapted silence throughout your monologue, those lovely whispers about you on the street?

Then don't be a dull clod! Let John Hale and his CarmeLight School of the Performing Arts turn you into a home-wrecker! Sacrifice your rose-covered cottage so that you may "tread the boards" with the immortals!

Artists are important — so important in this day of technological materialism. For it is they who may preserve our souls.

"For mark you, the artists work is to show ourselves as we really are.

"Our minds are nothing but this knowledge of ourselves, and he who adds a jot to such knowledge creates new minds as surely as any woman creates new men."

Carmel Travelers

(Mr. and Mrs. John G. Bannister of Orinda have had a summer vacation home in Carmel. They have just returned from South America, and their amusing letters will be carried periodically in the Pine Cone.)

Dear Friends:

Just as I began to fancy myself a Spanish linguist, we arrived in Rio where they speak Portuguese! Consequently, the plain, old American salutation — this Portuguese is too tough for me — or guide says even the Portuguese from Portugal can't understand it!

Before telling you about Rio, (which is fabulous!) I will return to Buenos Aires as we had another day or two there after the last letter was written.

Don't think I mentioned that Buenos Aires is called the Paris of South America, and it is certainly apparent why it is — the broad boulevards, beautiful parks, interesting buildings, and cosmopolitan population really remind one of "Paree." The widest boulevard in the world is in Buenos Aires and is called Avenida July 9th. The city is situated on the La Plata River, which is 140 miles wide at one point — this gives the impression of an ocean, and all the ocean-going liners come right up the river to the city.

In Peru and in Chile there are beef-less days during the week — for example, you may have beef only on Friday, Saturday, and Sunday in Chile, because so much of their beef is exported.

Not so in Argentina — I never thought I would reach the point where I was trying not to order a delicious steak, but we finally concluded there is a point of "satiation," so beef-less days seem like a good idea at this point! Although I will be returning home probably 10 pounds heavier, I have not had the will power to turn down the delicious half of avocado which we order with practically every meal (except with the Continental Breakfast, which doesn't do much for one's waistline either!).

The South Americans eat practically nothing but meat, bread and potaters, as they call them. I can't understand why they don't weigh a ton!

We had a fun evening in Buenos Aires at a Bohemian Restaurant in the La Boca district with typical Argentinian food (including squid and octopus) and much loud music and dancing.

The Golfing Gauchos really contributed to the evening's entertainment, and when it was time to go, they begged us to stay! Nothing closes down here until all the customers have left! We could probably be there yet!

Because of rain, our trip to the Estancia was cancelled, which was quite a disappointment to all, but another tour was arranged, and we had lunch at the local "Fisherman's Wharf" — except that we had filet steaks again! !

When we left Buenos Aires, we gave Ingried (our guide) a lovely leather purse to match a suit she had just purchased, with a few thousand pesos enclosed, and copies of the songs we had written for her signed by all the Golfing Gauchos. We sang to her on the way to the airport and made her an honorary Golfing Gaucho — she was so touched she kissed us all individually (which pleased the men, no end) and said with tears in her eyes, "You crazy, beautiful people! ! ."

When we reached the airport, there was a newspaper photographer to take our picture as we boarded the plane. On our arrival in Rio, we discovered there had been an article in the newspaper and picture on T.V. about the millionaire Golfing Gauchos; According to the article, the richest gauchos were the ones with the lowest handicaps because they had more time to spend on improving their golf game! Needless to say, this whole affair caused considerable amusement within our group!

Salvation Army Moves to New Building

Outgrowing its present quarters in Seaside, the Salvation Army Men's Social Service Center Thrift Store will shortly be opening shop in its newly redesigned building at 1850 Fremont Boulevard. The move will almost double the amount of floor space to a total of approximately 5000 sq. ft., and will provide parking space for 23 cars.

The Salvation Army Men's Service Center in San Jose provides rehabilitation facilities for 90 men. This is not a temporary shelter for overnight care, but is established for in-residence care and treatment for those in need of such a program.

It is a work rehabilitation service, and the Army's care provides the advantage of controlled environment, thus enhancing the possibility of complete reformation by use of intensive treatment processes.

"To many who are handicapped, either mentally, morally, physically, socially, or spiritually," said Brigadier Arthur Carl, manager of the Center, "the Men's Social Service Center offers the opportunity to regain self respect, and to acquire such moral and spiritual principles of conduct and habits of industry, as to enable them to take their rightful place in society. The sale of items in the Red Shield Thrift Stores," he continued, "is the source of funds to support the program, and we welcome you to come in, browse around, and inspect the new location. We also urge you to call the Salvation Army for Red Shield Truck pick-up service whenever you have useable discards — clothing, mattresses, linens, furniture, and bric-a-brac."

The new Seaside store will be open from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m., Mondays through Saturdays, to serve the entire peninsula.

Letter To The Editor

Editor,
The Carmel Pine Cone,

I am an epileptic. I am proud of the fact that I have something in common with Socrates, Julius Caesar, St. Paul, Napoleon, Tchaikovsky, Alexander The Great, Lord Bryon, and two million other Americans. I am not so proud of the fact that I live in a society which can send men to the moon, and yet is so ignorant that medical science can not even accurately diagnose a disorder which has been common to man through out recorded history. I am not proud of the fact that billions of dollars is being spent on a war in which innocent people are dying, and we can not even raise enough money to give people proper medical care. I am disgusted that our tax money goes to train police officers who are experts at breaking up student demonstrations, and does not teach them the simplest first aid necessary to help an epileptic having a seizure on the street.

I would like to help correct this situation, to make it easier for myself and other Americans. If you are interested in helping or would like information please call 372-3836 after 6 p.m.

Marian Weygers To Show 'Imprints'

A special month-long exhibition titled "Imprints from Nature" by Marian Weygers will supplement the Museum's 8th Annual Wildflower Show which is scheduled for three days, April 18 through 20th.

Mrs. Weygers and her artist husband Alex live in Carmel Valley. The grounds of their residence are fairly well left as nature intended with wildflowers and trees allowed to grow in profusion. This is the source of the subject matter of "Imprints from Nature." The artist actually uses the leaves, petals, twigs of the landscape as the "plates" for a printing process which she herself developed. With printer's ink and a careful hand, compositions of delicate beauty are achieved.

The choice of soft papers and understated compositions immediately make one think of Japanese scrolls and things Oriental. Mrs. Weygers attributes this to Chiura Obata, one of her instructors during her art studies at the University of California.

The prints are all one of a kind since the very character of Mrs. Weygers' printing process allows her to use each leaf or flower petal only once.

The exhibit will remain through April and may be viewed daily except Monday from 10 a.m. until 5 p.m.

'God's Power At Hand' Described By Christian Science Lecturer Alton

A Christian Science lecturer used a description of surfboard riding in Carmel, Tuesday, to illustrate how men must learn to unite themselves with the spiritual power of God.

William Henry Alton, C.S.B., of New York City, was the speaker. He addressed a public audience here on the subject, "God's Power at Hand."

The event was sponsored by First Church of Christ, Scientist, and presented in the Sunset Center Auditorium.

"How does a surfer ride the power of the wave?" Mr. Alton asked.

"When he sees a wave approaching, he paddles vigorously in the direction the wave is going. When the wave reaches him and lifts him to its crest, it's a matter of his staying at-one with the wave, and letting it carry him. He never breaks the relationship of rider and wave. Otherwise he'd fall off, get knocked around and go nowhere.

"Our great need," declared the lecturer, "is to move Spiritward; to become attuned to God, the divine Principle of all reality" . . . We must discover what it means "to awaken spiritually and to ally ourselves with spiritual power . . . This is getting on the wave."

Mr. Alton is an experienced practitioner and teacher of Christian Science, and is currently on tour as a member of the denomination's Board of Lectureship.

"People usually think of power as physical, such as the blast-off of a rocket, a hurricane, a dictatorship," he noted.

But there are many individuals who have caught "clear glimpses of God, Spirit, as the supreme power of the universe."

He quoted Paul's words, "There is no power but of God," and commented that the life of Christ Jesus was a complete proof of this statement.

However, "God's power must be understood before it can become effective in human lives," he continued — in much the same way that the nature of the atom had to be understood before atomic energy could be released.

Furthermore, "we must understand who we really are — what the true nature of man is . . . the man spoken of in the first chapter of Genesis, 'And God said, Let us make man in our image, after our likeness: and let them have dominion . . . over all the earth.'"

This power of dominion, said Mr. Alton, "expresses itself through spiritual qualities.

"Spiritual man is made up of God's divine qualities. . . . The qualities which are found in the only cause, God, by logic are found in God's effect, man. . . . Man is, in fact, God's eternal qualities in action."

Mr. Alton indicated that Jesus' forgiveness of his enemies at the cross may have been "the power that turned his crucifixion into the greatest victory of all time."

The lecturer quoted a statement by Mary Baker Eddy, the Discover of Christian Science: "With Christ, Life was not merely a sense of existence, but a sense of might and ability to subdue material conditions" (Unity of Good, p. 42).

For humanity to awaken to this power demands "prayer, study, and regenerated thinking," Alton stressed.

Christian Science Bible Lesson

"Are Sin, Disease, and Death Real?" is the subject of this week's Bible Lesson-Sermon to be heard Sunday in all Christian Science churches.

A verse from Job, included in the lesson, states that God "will not afflict." A related passage from Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures by Mary Baker Eddy says: "The humble Nazarene overthrew the supposition that sin, sickness, and death have power. He proved them powerless."

Thomasina Turner

Carmel Girl Wins ARC Friendship Summer Tour

The Carmel Chapter of the American Red Cross has been advised by National Headquarters in Washington, D.C. that Miss Thomasina Turner has been designated one of 36 participants in the American Red Cross Friendship Latin America Program for this summer.

Miss Turner was the Carmel Chapter's candidate and recently won the honor against West Coast contestants in San Francisco.

As one of the college age volunteers she will be meeting with the entire group in New Orleans June 26.

Each designate will be working with the Red Cross Society of the country to which he or she is sent.

Since Miss Turner must qualify as a First Aid Instructor before she leaves in June, Miss Dorothy Taaffe of Red Cross National Headquarters said she hoped Thomasina could have the unique experience, unavailable to any other designate, of working with some of the Carmel Chapter's volunteer ambulances.

No other Red Cross Chapter in the nation has this service and all the men who do this volunteer work can give Thomasina valuable first hand information about first aid.

Miss Turner is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas A. Turner of Carmel, a graduate of Carmel High School presently a student at MPC and the Monterey Institute of Foreign Studies.

OBITUARY

Mrs. Blanche Daniel Holman, 87, died recently. Native of England she is survived by three grandchildren, James, Victoria and Daniel, the children of her late son, Arthur James Holman who died in 1961.

American Field Service To Show JFK Film At Village Theater Apr. 23, 24

The Carmel Chapter of American Field Service is sponsoring a benefit film on Apr. 23 and 24 at Carmel's Village Theatre.

The drama, "John F. Kennedy, Years of Lightning, Day of Drums," is a full-length color motion picture of the 2 years 10 months of his presidency. The film was made by the United States Information Agency with guidance from George Stevens Jr. and Bruce Herschensholn and has been praised as a fine, non-partisan approach to such a story.

It was released in 1966 but was shown only in foreign countries until a special act of Congress allowed it to be shown in the United States. It has not been shown on the Monterey Peninsula.

This year Carmel Chapter of American Field Service is delighted to have Grace Lim from Sabah, East Malaysia, living in Carmel with the Jack Bruce family and attending Carmel High School. Carmel High is also honored to have placed two girls in the American Abroad Program. Lynn Fryback, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. William Fryback of Carmel Knolls, who just left for Japan; Athens Shudde, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rex Shudde of Carmel Meadows, who is in Argentina; and Sharon Stuart, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Stuart, who will return in June from a year with a family in Vienna.

Any family sending four children "overseas" for a years study will understand that supporting these programs requires a large budget and AFS is sponsoring this movie with this budget expenses in mind.

Carmel AFS will receive the proceeds from only the tickets the group sells. There are no reserve seats.

AFS is presenting this film as a historical picture with no political association.

There will be five performances, Apr. 23 and 24 at 7 and 9:30 p.m. and a matinee Wednesday the 23 at 2 p.m.

Members selling tickets are Mrs. Richard Sippel 624-1788, Mrs. Gordon Clemens 624-4922, Mrs. Jim Harkins 624-3993, Mrs. Harris Taylor 624-8996, Mrs. Cregg McKee 624-5577, Mrs. George Walker 624-2037, Mrs. Oda Marlin 659-2751. For tickets or information call any of the above.

Coin Op Laundry Good Bet Says Business Report

Although the boom years of the coin-operated laundry industry are over, the industry is healthy and its future outlook favorable.

That's the word from Bank of America in the latest issue of its periodical, The Small Business Reporter.

The growth of coin-op laundries over the next few years will match the growth of the overall economy, the report predicts.

However, this growth will not be as great as other segments of the service industry because coin-op laundries "have not been able to benefit substantially from our increased affluence as have other services."

The report notes that location is a prime factor in determining the success of a coin-op laundry. Since profits are built on volume, the store should be located in a densely populated area.

There are now 36,000 coin-op laundries in America and they are better managed than they were a few years ago because most owners now consider the laundry as more of a business than an investment.

The report contains the investment requirements and the monthly profit and loss statement for a hypothetical laundry. It also covers legal requirements, financing, promotion and other aspects of operating a store.

Copies of the report are available through any Bank of America branch.

MPC CHOIR

Haydn's "Lord Nelson Mass" will be sung by the Monterey Peninsula College choir on Sunday, Apr. 13 at All Saints' Episcopal Church.

The MPC choir, under the direction of Dr. Harvey Marshall, will sing the Mass at the 5:15 p.m. Evensong.

On Worldly Distractions, At Forty

Be quiet! you angry winds that blow,
And stir a hostile tide
For I have many leagues to go
To reach the other side.

And this, the craft I travel in,
Is very frail, and light
I've only come this far, by noon
And must be home, by night.

Rotary Holds District Conference

Rotary District 522, which includes Carmel, will hold its annual conference at the Monterey Hyatt House for three days, beginning today and running through Apr. 12.

The conference will attract Rotarians and Rotaryanns from all parts of the several counties in Central California, and Ree C. Grim of King City, district governor, predicts the program and attendance will surpass any ever held by 522 in the past.

Speaker at the noon luncheon on Apr. 10 will be newspaper columnist Count Marco, whose "Beauty and the Beast" appears in more than 100 papers.

Friday's speaker is Dan Moore, special assistant to the publisher of the Los Angeles Times, and Friday evening the Governor's Ball is expected to bring out a capacity attendance.

Each of the three days, besides the plennary sessions, will offer Rotarians golf, sightseeing and other activities usually attendant to such Rotary gatherings.

This three-day session leads up to the Rotary International Convention to be held in Honolulu in May.

For registration and reservations, contact Don Ostergard, 372-3646.

HUNGERLAND SINGS

The Carmel Foundation will present Christopher Hungerland, bass, in a program of vocal solos, Wednesday, Apr. 16, 2:30, at the Town House, Lincoln near 8th.

Hungerland has lived in Carmel for almost two years. He is presently in the army, serving as a psychological research specialist.

Prior to his army experience he had sung opera and oratorio in the San Francisco Bay area and in Los Angeles, in addition to solo performance with Roger Wagner.

The program, accompanied by pianist Fred Schaad, includes works by Giordani, Mozart, Schubert, Rimsky-Korsakov, Ravel and Beauchamp.

The program is open to the public without charge.

OBITUARY

Mrs. Adaline B. Clayton, 74, Carmel resident for six years, died Mar. 29. She was born in Placer County, the daughter of pioneers who came around the Horn to California during the gold rush. She was a member of the Mother Church of Christ, Scientist, of Boston and of the First Church of Christian Science in Carmel. A son, W. A. Clayton of Oakland survives her as well as two grandchildren.

Sunset Notes

by Dr. James E. Gilman

Rosalind Elias, mezzo-soprano of the Metropolitan Opera, will appear in the final concert of the season of the Carmel Music Society, at Sunset Auditorium on Apr. 17 at 8:30 p.m.

The magnificent voice of Rosalind Elias has evoked overwhelming acclaim everywhere she has appeared — in opera at The Metropolitan, the Teatro Colon, The Salzburg Festival and the opera companies of Geneva, Marseilles and Monte Carlo.

Miss Elias has appeared as guest soloist with the New York Philharmonic Orchestra, The Boston Symphony, The Israel Philharmonic and the Philadelphia Orchestra.

In addition to her considerable vocal talents, Miss Elias had some practical words of wisdom regarding her craft in a recent interview.

"The fact is, to be consistently good, a singer must have a continuing sense of responsibility — a set of responsibilities as a matter of fact.

"No singer can take credit for the fact that she was born with a voice," says Miss Elias. "That is a gift of God, and as such must be treated with respect. The only credit the singer can take is for how well she has learned to use it, and she doesn't learn to use it properly without single-minded devoted study and good living habits.

"Then there is the responsibility to the audience. People who have purchased a ticket are entitled to the best the singer can give. This means not only singing at the top of her form and presenting each number with the intelligence, insight and sensitivity that comes only from thoughtful research.

"I have small patience with artists who prepare themselves more completely for a performance in a metropolis like San Francisco, than for one in a smaller community like Carmel.

"There's one other responsibility," she added ". . . to give the occasion a quality of excitement and glamor. You don't have to be beautiful to look beautiful. The stage is kind in that respect. It lends an aura to any performer who has taken the trouble to learn to stand properly, smile warmly and who has chosen a gown which is not only beautiful but becoming. The audience is entitled to this glamour—otherwise it might as well stay home and listen to records."

Tickets are available at the Friar Tuck Bookstore, Mission near 6th, Carmel. Phone 624-7500.

Explorerama Carmel

"I Love Mexico" is the final program of the current series of the Explorers Club of San Francisco, to be presented at Sunset on Friday, Apr. 11 at 8:15 p.m.

"I Love Mexico" is probably the only travel film on Mexico that does not include a bullfight, a fiesta or dancing. Ole!

Photography Exhibit

The fine photography of Paul Caponigro is on exhibit daily from 1 to 5 p.m. at the Friends of Photography, Sunset Cultural Center, Carmel. Admission is free.

Calling All Playwrights

The Young Artists' Theatre is looking for three original one-act plays for production at the Forest Theatre this September. Each play should not run longer than 45 minutes playing time and must be suitable for acting on a small stage with limited sets and technical facilities.

If you'd like more information, call Dave Allen at 375-8713.

Formula Cars Race At Laguna Seca

The excitement of automobile racing returns to famed Laguna Seca Raceway May 3-4 when the Sports Car Racing Association of the Monterey Peninsula launches into an expanded 1969 racing schedule.

Kicking off the season at the twisting, 1.9 miles asphalt is the introduction of the Continental Championships for Formula A V-8 powered prototypes.

Second race in the 13 race series, the Laguna Seca speedfest offers a $10,000 purse for a 100-mile Formula A contest and a purse half that size for a 100-mile Formula A and B race.

The Sports Car Club of America's Continental Championship series opens April 20 at Riverside and concludes Dec. 28 at Sebring, Fla.

Rounding out Laguna Seca's 1969 schedule are an Aug. 23-24 Trans-Am championship race for intermediate American sports sedans (with a $20,000 purse), and the rich Monterey-Castrol Grand Prix (Oct. 10-12), one of the million dollar-plus Canadian-American Challenge Cup races for Group Seven machines.

Ticket reservations may be had for the May 3 and 4 races by writing SCRAMP, P.O. Box 2078, Monterey, 93940. Orders should be in by Apr. 22 to allow time for postal delivery of tickets. Telephone 375-2252 for prices.

This Week's Enlistees

Business was good this week and two local men enlisted in the army. They were Larry Hartman and William Dunkelberger, both of Carmel.

Question of the Week

This is our question of the week. A young man came down to see us and wanted to enlist. "I just received my induction notice from the draft board and would now like to enlist. Can I?" Fortunately, we could say "yes." A man can enlist up until the day he must actually report for induction.

If you have a question you would like answered, send it along to us.

Facts About the Army

Did you know.

— That the Army has special programs through which a man who enters service can receive a promotion to sergeant within eight months after his enlistment?

— That the Purple Heart is the oldest Army medal? It was originally established by General George Washington and was known as the Badge of Military Merit.

OBITUARY

Sam C. Sample, 91, who divided his time between Carmel and Fresno, died Mar. 28. He and his wife Louise had a house at Ocean and Scenic. Dr. Sample was a ranched and investment executive. He belonged to the Roaming Rotarians in Carmel.

OBITUARY

Miss Charlotte Krum, 89, Carmel resident for seven years died recently. She was a retired teacher and librarian from Illinois, and author of children's textbooks. She is survived by her neice, Miss Florence Brett of Carmel.

RANCHO RIO VISTA LOT FOR $9,750

Imagine being able to buy a lot in a top Carmel area for under $10,000. We can do even better than that, if you'll buy TWO, you can have them BOTH for only $18,500. They're GOOD building sites, too.

5 DOLL HOUSES — CARMEL

One of those rare properties in Carmel, consisting of FIVE separate houses, of exceptional charm, built by Hugh Comstock, on a parcel of 13,000 square feet. Completely and nicely furnished. Call us for further details and location. Full price for all 5 — $115,000.

OCEAN FRONT — 4 BEDROOM HOME

Right on a sandy beach, on the edge of the Pacific Ocean with views beyond description. A private, heated swimming pool is included. Designed and built for the present owner, with all imaginable built-in fixtures and equipment. $225,000.

CARMEL — COMMERCIAL — $45,000

40' x 100', zoned C-1-S. There is an old house on the property, which COULD produce some income if the property is not developed immediately. Commercial land is very hard to find in Carmel, and this piece is reasonably priced.

INVESTMENT SERVICES

We do a COMPLETE ANALYSIS of all properties for the investors with whom we are associated.

NEW INVESTORS can see the production potential on each property before they invest: assured incomes (spendable cash), equity growth, depreciation and over-flow depreciation which tax-shelters other incomes, normal appreciation, expansion possibilities, effective holding period, percentage of return on capital invested concerning cash, equity, build-up and totals for any given period.

We provide the same complete analysis on properties you presently hold. Learn whether your property is producing up to its maximum potential.

We would like to talk to you about your property.

Country Mouse Pleasures — City Mouse Potential

Have the best of both worlds! The bosky rural lane, the beautiful trees and shrubs, lots of elbow room, the good clean, clear, sunny air of country life in the Valley. Love the delightful little house, rent its guest house, revel in the privacy of three completely separate lots. Then, when you're ready, presto! You have two houses and a building site, or one house and two building sites, or three great lots. All this for only $37,500.

This Old House

Has had a face lifting. It still has large rooms including a huge master bedroom, an already updated kitchen, a lovely, old fashioned garden, and it's on a parcel 100' x 100' in one of Carmel's great south-of-Ocean locations. Still lots that hasn't been done; this is a house eminently worth your own fine flair and imagination. Sell off a lot, if you like, but the price for the whole corner is only $59,000. Assume a $25,000 loan at 6%.

Rancho Rio Vista

First time on the market for this fine, custom-built home—SO fine, in fact, that we challenge the most particular Easterners among you to look it over with a magnifying glass. (When you can quit looking at the view, that is — all of the Valley and Point Lobos, and even an enclosed lanai from which to appreciate it.) We all think you'll especially love the family room. 2 bedrooms, 2½ baths and low taxes. The owner thinks its worth $75,000. See what you think.

Through A Garden Gate

AND UP A BRICK PATH to this enchanting early Monterey Colonial story-and-a-half home with its bricked porch and outside stairway to the tiny upper balcony. It isn't large (about 1400 square feet) but it is brimming over with charm. The 22' living room has an open-beam ceiling, a fireplace and random-width hardwood floors. There are two bedrooms and two baths (each bedroom and bath on a separate level), plus a cozy nook on the upper landing for a desk area or music center. The modernized kitchen is complete with dishwasher, stove, refrigerator and a washer/dryer, and there is a large sunny eating area with garden outlook through attractive bay windows. Other plus features are central gravity heat, carpeted bedrooms and the board and bat and shake roof exterior has just been freshly painted. There is a detached garage, and the spacious (⅓ acre) site is completely fenced and nicely landscaped. In an excellent location on a quiet cul-de-sac in Hatton Fields. Just listed at $37,500!

A World Of Its Own

Located on 2½ valuable lots just two blocks to the beach, this handsome Mediterranean home offers complete privacy in its park-like setting. Completely and artistically remodeled two years ago, yet retaining all of its original warmth and charm, every room has a sunny garden outlook. The main floor consists of an entry, a striking 25' living room with hand-hewn beams, a separate dining room, one bedroom and bath, and a dream of a kitchen with every modern built-in including a barbecue. A graceful curving stairway leads to the upper level where there are two bedrooms, a bath and a cozy den with copper-hooded fireplace. Then attached to the double garage (with election opener) is a guest house. Truly an outstanding home, and the value is here at $87,500.

CARMEL BARGAIN. We have a small and cute 2-bedroom cottage for sale, completely furnished even including dishes and linens. Utility and breakfast rooms and carport. Minimum yard upkeep. The out-of-town owner says sell for only $24,500.

ANOTHER BARGAIN FOR THE MAN who can live in this house and fix it up as he goes. It's on a 50' lot handy to town. 2 bedrooms, 1 bath, separate dining room and living room with fireplace. It's well built but old and needs some work. However, at $24,500 "as is," it's good and worth your time.

Padres Rained Out In Booster Club Tourney

By Hal Gann

Carmel's varsity baseball team advanced to the consolation finals in the Dad's Booster Club Tournament at Santa Cruz last week, but the Saturday afternoon game was rained out.

The game will be played Saturday afternoon, Apr. 19, with the Padres going against Redwood High School of Menlo Park.

Carmel, behind the excellent pitching of Lee Mark, bowed to a strong Soquel High team of the Monterey Bay League, 2-0, in an opening round game of the eight-team tournament last Thursday evening, but bounced back to shatter Harbor High of Santa Cruz, 8-2, Friday evening with sophomore slowballer Tom Boyd striking out four, walked none, and gave up six hits to notch the victory.

Next Padre broadcast is tomorrow, Friday, 8 p.m. over KRSA-FM, 100.7 mc, against arch-rival Pacific Grove in an important MTAL game at Carmel High (Game time is 4 p.m.)

Last week was an active one for Monte Feekis and his baseballers.

The Red and White defeated Kennedy of Fremont and Del Mar of San Jose in the annual San Jose Lions Club Tournament, after losing an opening round game to Samuel Ayer of San Jose. They were beaten in the consolation semifinals by Overfelt of San Jose, 3-2.

SKOL SKAALEGAARD! — Mrs. Sinclair B. Wright, left, and Mrs. Douglas C. McNeil, turn on the charm to sell Carmel attorney Thomas K. Perry tickets to a wine tasting party on Apr. 13. They are also toasting Carmel artist Hans Skaalegaard who has donated his painting "The Sovereign of the Seas" to the Monterey County Legal Secretaries Association to be used as a door prize for their wine-tasting diversion at the Mark Thomas Sunday from 5 to 7 p.m. Mrs. Wright is general chairman of the affair, and Mrs. NcNeil is co-chairman. The party is open to the public, and further information may be had by calling 624-5339.

Blanks' Grandfather Dies In NYC At 106

The Rev. Dr. Herbert Welch, 106-year-old grandfather of Carmel City Councilman Herb Blanks, died in New York last Friday evening.

Rev. Welch was a frequent visitor to Carmel, since he also had a number of great grandchildren living in this area.

He was thought to be the oldest bishop of any church, and the oldest alumnus in the country. He was once president of Ohio Wesleyan University and a bishop of the United Methodist Church.

The Reverend's wife of 68 years, the former Adelaide Frances McGee, died in 1958 at the age of 92.

dreds of businesses out of the state.

Senator John G. Schmitz (R-Tustin, Orange County) has introduced S B 35 which will preserve the right of the people to vote on local school tax overrides by repealing those fateful nine lines in AB 272.

The Pine Cone urges anyone who is interested in protecting himself from further tax inroads to write Assembly Speaker Robert Monagan, Assemblyman Victor Veysey, chairman of the Assembly Education Committee which now has SB 35, and Assemblyman Alan G. Pattee, your representative from the 34th District.

Council Meeting

Unanimous and enthusiastic acceptance of an offer by the Carmel Kiwanis Club to provide the city with a hundred more of the wooden trash containers seen along up-town sidewalks was voted by the Council. Placing of the Kiwanis emblem on each of the donated containers, was described as "reasonable recognition" of the gift by Councilman Whittlesey.

A legal action which might eventually lead to transfer of ownership of the property being used by the Boy Scouts, located at Mission and 8th, to the city, was approved, and City Attorney William Burleigh was authorized to participate in it.

The Carmel American Legion post, which has been acting as trustee for the property for many years, has found the expenses of the trusteeship to be straining its resources. In the event of city ownership, the property would continue in Scout use, but the American Legion would be relieved of paying taxes on it.

In other action, the Council authorized rental on a month-to-month basis and for partial use, of the large cafeteria room at Sunset Center, to a group which wants to conduct yoga health classes there. Also approved was rental to Robert Horne of room 7 at Sunset, to be used for art classes.
